

Having Loved and Having Lost

(Words and Music) – Thom Sebastian C 2005

Once we had it all
And we shared the joy and hope that new love brings
But somewhere we were wrong
Love crept away and didn't leave a thing

Where once we had compassion only bitterness remains
And I'm scared love won't survive another change

Saddest thing I've ever known – Having loved and having lost

Once we had a dream
And we labored long to see that dream come true
But morning came and when we woke
We found that dream was fading from our view

Where once we had our dignity now emptiness remains
And I'm scared I'll never have that dream again

Saddest thing I've ever known – Having loved and having lost

All the promises we made and couldn't keep
Torn up and scattered on the ground
And the puzzle we became stands alone and incomplete
Where the pieces that we needed can't be found

Once we had it all
And we shared the joy and hope that new love brings
But somewhere we were very wrong
Love crept away and didn't leave a thing

Where once we lived in harmony now dissonance remains
And I'm scared I'll never love like that again

Saddest thing I've ever known – Having loved and having lost
